Fire Fighters Ready for Weekend's Annual Show and Dance

The Menlo Park Fire District, its officers and men, this week reissued their invitation to the city's residents to attend their annual drill tower show at headquarters station tomorrow evening, and the Firemen's ball on Saturday night.

The invitations were issued as firemen completed visits to the area's schools, where they have been conducting fire drills and demonstrations during the earlier days of Fire Prevention week which started Monday, and talks before area service and women's clubs.

Tomorrow night's tower drill will commence at 7 p.m. and continue for about an hour, for the benefit of younger children whose parents may want to get them home early.

As in past years, members of the fire district staff, who have been training under the direction of Deputy Chief George Carter, will demonstrate their skill in climbing the outside of multi-story buildings, the use of life nets, and the use of the district's 65-foot areial ladder truck.

Following the show, those who have not yet taken advantage of the Fire District's invitation to visit stations in the area are invited to view the equipment at headquarters station, to become better acquainted with their fire department.

The talks before area clubs and the drills at the schools this week have been arranged under the direction of Assistant Chief and Fire Marshall Edwin Wickstrom.

Meanwhile, hundreds of the area's residents have been making plans to attend the annual Firemen's ball, featuring dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday at Burgess park gym.

Art Weidner, orchestra leader, announced yesterday in the wake of auditions that six 'teenage finalists in a vocalists' contest have been selected, and will provide musical entertainment during the intermission.

General chairman for the dance has been Captain Loren Grider of the Fire District; Chiefs Thomas F. Cuff, Carter and Wickstrom, together with Fire Commissioners C. Vernon Barker, Malcolm Paterson and Wallace Ott, have been named to serve on the honorary committee for the affair.

Fireman A. G. Peters, president of the Fire District Firemen's association and Captain Charles Dompe have been named to the reception committee, and will greet guests at the door.

Proceeds of the dance will be used for the firemen's association's widows' and orphans' fund.

Meanwhile, Fire District Chief Cuff reminds residents, fire stations of the district are always open to the public, but most especially so during the days of Fire Prevention week.

"Those wanting a first - hand chance to become better acquainted with the men and equipment which may some day be called upon to save their homes or perform other emergency services are always welcome," he said, adding that it is hoped this year's drill tower event and the coming dance will prove the most popular ever.

The dance is the 16th annual one in a series which has become a traditional community social event. For those who want more tickets, to form parties or to bring friends, ducats may still be obtained at any fire station of the district, or they can be obtained at the gym on the night of the dance.

Las Lomitas Bond Vote Tomorrow

Hotly Contested Campaign Near End As $137,000 Measure Faces Polls

More than 2000 registered voters in the Las Lomitas School District are invited to the polls at Las Lomitas school tomorrow, to cast ballots on the district's proposed $137,000 bond issue proposal.

The single voting place will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Mrs. June Cruver is to be inspector and Mrs. Vera Hollueffer and Mrs. Margot Botsford are to serve as judges.

Group Urges Approval; Cites Building Needs

Las Lomitas School District Citizens' committee this week urged passage of the district's proposed $137,000 bond issue, so that construction of four more classrooms can be got underway at the earliest possible moment to keep district children off double sessions in 1956.

Passage of the bond issue will mean, paradoxically, that district operating taxes can be reduced. Some of the funds will be used for completion of a multi-use room at Las Lomitas school; between $9500 and $14,500 will be available for preparations for acquisition of a third site in the district.

The citizens 'committee took its findings pointing toward need for passage of the bond issue before the district's voters in a brochure published this week.

It called for voter approval of the measure on the basis that construction of the new classrooms should start immediately if they are to be completed before September of 1956.

Cost of construction, which will bring Ladera's capacity to about 500 pupils, will be about $77,461.02.

Between $45,000 and $50,000 has been set aside for construction of a multi-use room at Las Lomitas school, which may itself be used for classes should the press of population require.

Concerning the possibility that the district's taxes will be lowered, not raised if the bond issue passes, the brochure observes:

TELL ESTIMATES

"Our present bond redemption tax rate is 40 cents per $100, assessed valuation. If our bond redemption rate falls below 40 cents, because of increase in assessed valuation and retirement of bonds, the state will levy a tax sufficient to retain the bond redemption rate at 40 cents.

"If our bond redemption tax rate is maintained at 40 cents (for retirement of locally-let bonds) the state loan is forgiven permanently."

Meanwhile, the explanation continues, it will eb possible to lower the district's operating taxes, because the district's buildings and equipment are in good condition.

Should the bond issue fail to pass, the district would have to adopt a "pay as you go" policy to finance new construction; this would mean the district's operating tax would have to be raised to the legal limit and facilities would still fall behind the needs of a growing district population.

Plans for Use Of Funds Draw Fire of Opponents

Opposition to the proposed $137,000 Las Lomitas School District bond issue, on which voters will cast ballots tomorrow, broke into the open this week with a Taxpayers' association criticizing the way in which the funds are proposed to be spent.

A letter mailed to residents of the district Tuesday afternoon by the association, the latter, headed by Malcolm Paterson of 2198 Sharon road, specifically took the bond proposal to task because about $82,500 of it is earmarked for further expansion at Ladera school.

The taxpayers' group, which reportedly numbers about 60 persons, would like to see a larger part of the bond issue than now planned spent for expansion of Las Lomitas school and the acquisition of sites in the northern part of the district.

Paterson, as spokesman for the group, emphasized that his group realized the necessity for more schools in the district, and the need for bond issues with which to finance their acquisition.

The association objects that, with Ladera school expanded to a capacity of 500 pupils, the bulk of the children attending there will have to be transported more than three miles each way each day, while construction of schools in other parts of the district lags.

"We know the district needs more schools," Paterson stated, "and we support the effort to get them. But Ladera school already has classrooms for 200 pupils. Further construction is under way to bring the capacity to 400 in 1954. This new bond money would increase the size of the school to 500 by 1956.

CITES FIGURES

"By contrast, only 90 pupils, out of the more than 900 in the district, live in Ladera. The rest who are to occupy the classrooms there must be transported from the more heavily populated area to the relatively remote Ladera site.

"We don't believe this is wise. We have asked the trustees to reconsider their plans to conform with plans for over-all requirements for a centrally-located site.

"The situation now, and as planned, means inconvenience to most patrons of the district, high transportation costs and potential trouble in the future."

If the bond issue is defeated, Paterson added, the trustees may be persuaded that school patrons want more classrooms in locations their children can reach without using buses.

Learning the desires of the people through defeat of the present bond issue, Paterson continued, trustees can call another one within the next few months which would have the whole-hearted support of all interested groups.

Association Rejects 'Anonymous' Postal

Mailing of a cheaply-duplicated postcard rubber stamped with the signature "Las Lomitas Taxpayers" and urging defeat of the school district's bond issue in tomorrow's election last week indicated an anonymous group is at work in the district.

Malcolm Paterson, head of the Association of Taxpayers, disclaimed any responsibility for the mailing.

The mimeographed card was apparently sent out last Friday, to a select, small mailing list.

The card criticizes the district's tax rate, and suggests that the Las Lomitas School District should be dismembered.

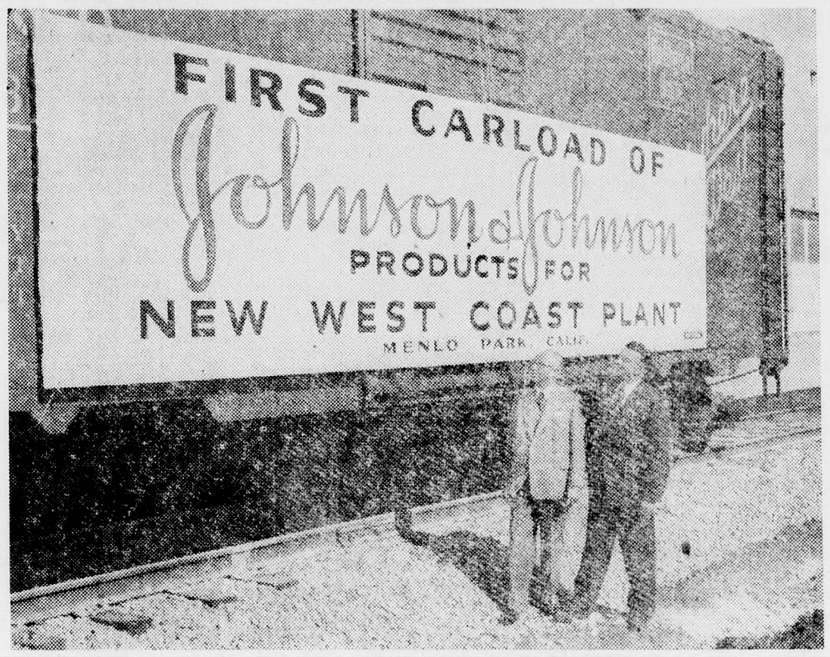

"I want to make it clear," Paterson said, "that this does not represent the thinking of our group."

New Group Backs Bond Proposal

A new taxpayers' group, styled the Las Lomitas-Ladera taxpayers association, in a joint meeting Monday evening with the Las Lomitas School District Citizens, advisory committee, went on record as endorsing the bond issue on which district voters will ballot tomorrow.

The new association took its action in the form of a petition, signed by some 60 persons and circulated by George Nummy, 181 Stanford avenue.

BIG INDUSTRY GETS FIRST DELIVERY HERE

FIRST DELIVERY to Johnson and Johnson. Here is the first carload delivery of Johnson and Johnson products, for distribution from the new plant in Menlo Park. The building, which has been under construction for several months, now is ready for headquarters of J & J's sales and distribution activities. The program for installation of manufacturing equipment is still in progress. "Opening the building for sales and distribution is the first stage in the long-range program for the Menlo Park plant which we announced last November," according to Leonard J. Bardsley (right), J & J director of customer service, from the New Brunswick, N. J. headquarters. Also shown is Milton O'Donnell, manager of the Menlo Park plant.

'New Look' Downtown

Proposal for 'Kiddie' Amusement Park In Shopping District Wins Approval

The face of Menlo Park's downtown business area is in for a few more adornments, including a "Kiddie" amusement park, a new store building, and a more graceful parking lot elevation on a proposed restaurant.

All this was indicated at the Menlo Park planning commission meeting Monday night.

The "Kiddie park," which is to be situated on a vacant lot between the Sprouse-Reitz store and Miner's bakery, facing Santa Cruz avenue, was granted a temporary operating permit for use to Jan. 31. Whether or not it will be allowed to continue operation depends on whether it proves harmonious with the rest of the city's business development.

Operator Harry Stutz, 709 DeSoto drive, Palo Alto, told commissioners that he had contacted the merchants' committee of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, and had received the okay of its members.

It appeared to be the feeling of the merchants, he said, that such an amusement park would attrach children whose mothers might become shoppers in adjacent stores.

He agreed, also, to surround the park with a fence to keep wee ones from toddling off into Santa Cruz avenue or the city parking plaza and to keep music and lights at subdued levels.

Stutz said that he had not been able to come to a lease arrangement with the lot's owners, but would operate on a month-to-month basis.

The "park" is to feature such devices as a merry-go-round, auto ride ring, and miniature train. Stutz presently operates a similar establishment in Redwood City.

The new store building which received the planners okay is to be owned by H. Taylor Peery and Kieth Garner. It is to face the alley entering city parking plaza 1 from Oak Grove avenue.

The more graceful rear elevation, requested by the planners last month, is to adorn a restaurant-delicatessen at 860 Santa Cruz avenue. Planners had demurred when asked to approve building plans because they said the frontage on city parking plaza 2 should be better looking.

The new drawings, okayed as submitted Monday night, showed extensive brick work and window areas had been added, giving the rear of the building a more finished appearance. John Forsythe is owner of the proposed structure, to be built for the Oxford delicatessen.

'Bigger' Santa Parade Planned

Menlo-Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce's "Welcome Santa" parade, scheduled to be held here Dec. 3 as a signal of the start of the Yuletide buying season, will have a line of march twice as long as that of last year.

So said Chairman Burt Blackwell this week.

He said that cooperating members of the Chamber of Commerce have indicated that, to accommodate more spectators, more room should be given on the sidelines. A "firm" route has not yet been established, but it is anticipated that the paraders will march from the vicinity of Arbor road to Doyle street and Santa Cruz avenue.

Previously, paraders have joined their units at Menlo Park parking plaza 2 for the march.

The parades, now aiming for a third straight year of success, are held early and kept relatively short, so that younger children can enjoy them.

September Building Here At High Level

Construction activity in Menlo Park continued at high levels during September, figures released by the building inspector's office revealed this week, with a total of 51 permits, authorizing $803,850 worth of construction, issued.

About half of the valuation of construction started during the period was concentrated in two projects: the $168,000 eight-room upper-grade school started at Willow and the $221,000 addition to Allstate Insurance company's office at 321 Middlefield road.

But single-family residential construction remains the "bread and butter" of the local building picture with 13 new homes, having an aggregate valuation of $232,060, started during the month.

Four apartment houses, with a total of 15 dwelling units and $124,000 valuation were started; 17 new nonresidential structures with a total valuation of $31,150 were also got under way and three nonresidence alteration jobs, with a valuation of $3100, were also begun.

Twelve residence alteration projects with a total valuation of $23,600 wer elso listed.

Atherton Gets Building Officer

Charles E. Howard of 1340 Crane street, a former employee of J. C. Davenport construction company, went on duty Monday as Atherton's first full-time building inspector as the town preared to deal with a growing number of zoning violations noted by the police department.

Howard replaces Davenport, which the latter has held on a part time basis for the past several years. He will work with Police Chief Leroy Hubbard and City Attorney Winston Churchill Black.

As of last week, there were 18 violations of building requirements outstanding in Atherton, according to Hubbard. Most of these involve additions to buildings, without the securing of necessary building permits, the initiation of construction in violation of Atherton's rigid zoning requirements, or other details.

Boy, 5, Unhurt as Bike, Auto Crash

Five-year-old Douglas Conn, 700 Cotton street escaped with only a bruised knee, officers say, when his bicycle was involved in a collision with an auto driven by Alan Stanford, 18, of 1760 Oak avenue, last Friday morning.

The mishap occurred as Stanford started up after stopping in preparation for turning from Olive street onto Santa Cruz avenue.

Neither vehicle was damaged, police add.

Which to Swallow?

Council Dons Bib for Big Parking Bite

"And thick and fast they came at last,
And more, and more, and more—
All hopping through the frothy waves,
And scrambling to the shore."

And still another "modified alternate compromise" parking plan was submitted to the city council this week. A committee of five owners of downtown commercial property brought in the new proposal for creation of additional off-street parking facilities on the southerly side of Santa Cruz avenue.

The five owners had, following the informal request of the council two weeks ago, studied all previously submitted plans and drawn up the latest proposal as the one that, in their opinion, would receive the greatest support from those in the assessment district who would foot the bill.

Their recommendations, contained in a three-page typewritten report to the council, was the result of four intensive study meetings.

"A pleasant walk, a pleasant talk
Along the briny beach."

The new plan most closely resembles the "compromise" plan previously offered by Councilman Charles P. Burgess. The only fundamental differences are that the latest would include properties on both sides of Santa Cruz avenue between Chestnut and Crane streets in the assessment district and would provide a small plaza in the interior of that block on the southerly side, running 100 feet in depth from the present alley and directly in the rear of the three central commercial lots facing Santa Cruz.

Only entrance to this plaza would be by way of the alley.

After considerable—and sometimes heated — discussion, the council accepted the committee's proposal—and added it to the already submitted "Blue" plan, "Modified" plan, "Compromise" plan, and all suggested alterations of each—for study.

Expressing their intention of thrashing the problem out next Monday night—and Tuesday, too, if necessary—councilmen indicated they hoped to come up with their final decision at next Wednesday night's regular meeting and to go ahead at that time with formation of the district.

"'The time has come,' the Walrus said,
'To talk of many things . . .'"

But which oyster the council would try to swallow first this week remained almost anybody's guess.

FEELINGS DIVIDED

That the committee itself was not wholly in accord was indicated during discussion when Albert J. Giannotti, group chairman who presented the recommendations, suddenly dropped his position of wholehearted support for the proposal.

He declared he still would favor the "Blue" plan—which would run a parking area straight through from University drive to Doyle street—if the council could find some way to give it hope of success.

Other property owners present disputed the committee's opinion that its plan would find the greatest support by registering their own objections to it. Among these was Santos Duca, owner of commercial property at the corner of Santa Cruz and Chestnut and co-proprietor of a food store there.

'WING' DEVELOPMENT

The committee's plan would create, eventually, strips of shallow-depth commercial property along both sides of Chestnut and Crane street, between Santa Cruz and Menlo avenues. Much was made in discussion of the greater benefits of tying Santa Cruz and Menlo shopping frontages togeth-

Shift in Mayors Due Wednesday

Menlo Park's Mayor Michael L. Belangie this week was preparing for his last public appearance in that role next Wednesday.

"Right after the roll call at next week's meeting," he said, "I intend to announce that I am stepping down from the position of mayor, and I would like then to offer a nomination for my successor."

"All the councilmen are in accord that Mr. Burgess shall be the new mayor," he stated.

Belangie succeeded Burgess as mayor in April, 1953.

SLATED FOR HONOR

Burgess, who is expected to be elected president of the League of California Cities later this month, was mayor of the city for seven years prior to giving up the post last year because of the press of personal business.

He thus will return to the helm of the city during his year's term as head of the state organization, on whose board of directors he has served for several years.

Belangie cited similar personal business reasons last July when he first announced his intention of quitting the mayoralty. He was prevailed upon by his colleagues to retain the job until this month, when Burgess would once again be in position to shoulder the burdens of office.

Belangie was appointed to the council in 1950 and elected to a full term in April, 1952.

Library Friends Set Oct. 14 Meeting Date

First fall meeting of the Friends of the Menlo Park Library will be held at 8 p. m., Oct. 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Browning, 1 Parkwood drive, Atherton.

Featured at the meeting will be discussion of the present state of plans for doubling the size of the facility at 631 Menlo avenue; a brief description of summer activities and displays will also be presented.

Mrs. Thomas Sewell will lead a discussion of how space may be allocated in the addition to the building, if and when it is completed.

In issuing an invitation to all prospective members to attend, Mrs. Sewell observed,

"With the rapid growth of population in Menlo Park and the continued prospect of growth, the Friends of the Library needs the opinions and support o fevery citizen to help provide a growing library system to meet the demand."

Night Classes Off Tonight

There will be no school at the Menlo-Atherton Adult Evening School on Thursday, October 7, according to Willard Bradley, principal. On October 7 the high school will sponsor a back to school night for the parents.

Planners Deny Plea for New Apartment Zone

A request for rezoning, which might have been followed by others and resulted in the more multiple family dwellings in the Paraiso park area, was Monday night turned down by the Menlo Park planning commission.

The denial came after submission of a protest petition by Attorney John A. Sullivan, 1275 Crane street, signed by 15 property owners in the area. Most were within the 250-foot "zone of interest" surruonding the property for which the rezoning was asked.

The lot for which the request was made faces the east side of Crane street ,adjacent to the rear of lots facing Oak Grove avenue, which were recently reclassified for multiple family use as a "buffer" between the downtown commercial area and the single-family homes of the Paraiso park area.

Its owner, Harold T. Erickson of 967 Menlo avenue, argued that his lot, if reclassified to allow him to construct a duplex, would make an ideal buffer between the buffer and the homes in the area.

Sullivan argued that the rezoning would open the way for similar requests regarding other properties along Crane street.

Noting that the majority of property owners appeared against the proposal, the planners issued their denial, although Commissioner Joseph Perry observed that, in his view, some over-all development plan for the area should be worked out.

OTHER ACTIONS

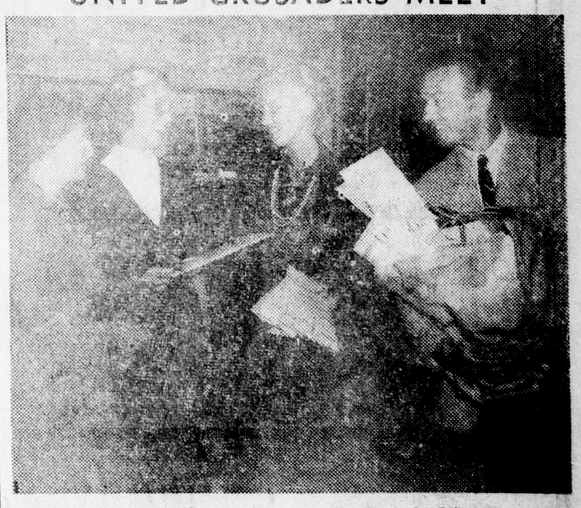

In other actions, the planners:

1. Okayed a request for resubdivision of lots facing Mallet court, up for development by Captain H. E. Hansen, owner, who resides at 620 Kenwood drive. The lots have square footage in excess of requirements of the zone in which they are situated, but are two feet short of the required 60-foot frontage.

2. At the request of Youritan Construction company, they okayed a resubdivision of a multiple family lot facing Waverley street Linfield Oaks, in the vicinity of Linfield drive. The cut-up conformed to city requirements in every detail, they agreed.

3. They recommended that the name of St. Francis place, in the Weyland subdivision, be changed to St. Francis court.

How Group Works:

Las Lomitas Citizens Committee Formed Three Years Ago

When Las Lomitas School District voters go to the polls tomorrow to vote on the district's proposed $137,000 bond issue, it will be with opinions formed largely as the result of long months of effort by the district's citizens' committee.

Members of the group, for themselves, are looking for a large turnout—a turnout such as can be expected when the electorate is an informed one. And whatever the result of tomorrow's balloting, the residents of the district themselves can feel that they had a part in framing the measure before them.

The Las Lomitas citizens' committee, in fact, has been working on the measure since last winter.

They've conducted surveys, aimed at determining the classrooms needed by the district for the next several years; they've consulted with members of the school board on how much money could be raised without a bond issue; they've eyed several alternatives and finally, with all available facts at hand, they have prepared a brochure, distributed last week, detailing the reasons for tomorrow's balloting.

The committee is loosely organized and has no regular meetings. It has a three-person steering committee, members of which attend meetings of the school district board of trustees and keeps the group as a whole informed of problems of interest.

The members of the steering group, too, were responsible for production of the brochure urging support of the district's bond issue.

The steering committee currently is composed of Robert H. Baxter, R. W. Stevens and Mrs. Helen Roth.

TWO-WAY SERVICE

"The citizens' committee," Mrs. Roth explains, "performs a valuable, two-way function. It gives the school board a chance to share its problems with representatives of the community and also, through it, the school district trustees can learn the direction in which the citizens want the school system to develop."

The committee as a whole, including the steering committee, is set up on an informal basis.

It's open to all residents of the district if they want to join; when membership falls a little lower than is considered healthy for a trulp representative group, other citizens are asked to join.

It has no real chairman as such but the steering committee, when it learns at a trustees' meeting of some new problem confronting the district, calls gatherings of the committee as a whole.

Nominees to the group are selected on the basis of geographical arear in which they reside, occupation, economic status and other factors which tend to make for the broadest possible representation.

Mrs. Mary Lou Judy, Darwin Keahey, Mrs. Marie Ludwig, Robert Saxton, Mrs. George Shaftel, Dr. Harold Sox, W. I. Turek, John C. Worsley, Wallace Jones and Robert Swain.

CONTINUOUS

The committee was formed about three years ago, shortly after Superintendent Lawrence Fuller came to the district. Since then it's been called in by the school district's board of trustees to aid in solving a variety of problems.

And last winter, when it became evident to the trustees that they would have to do something before the end of the year to meet the needs of the mounting number of enrolees in the district, the citizens' group was again called in.

Whether or not the majority of voters in the district agree with them, that passage of the $137,000 bond issue is necessary at this time, will be definitely known to morrow night when the ballots are counted.

Fremont Students Elect Officers

Ray Bisio, sixth grade teacher, is faculty counsellor to the student body.

Each classroom of fourth, fifth and sixth graders has two representatives, over and above elected representatives, on the student council. The group meets Friday mornings to discuss and act on matters of interest to the students of the school.

Regular student body meetings are held once a month, for children from fourth grade age up.

Margaret is the third girl, in a row, to head the student body. Her predecessors have been Karen Hadden last year and Cathy Gomes the year before that.

State Correction Officers Address MP Lions

Menlo Park Lions, at their regular meeting Tuesday night, heard Douglas Montell, research and field representative for California Correctional Industries and Glenn C. Thorpe, sales manager for that organization, discuss rehabilitation of prison inmates.

More than 40 members of the Lions club attended the meeting, held at Johny's in North Fair Oaks.

The speakers pointed out that there are some 15,000 inmates in state prisons, at the present time, that this number is increasing with the population as a whole, and that the jails are overcrowded.

It is the function of the correctional industries department of the department of correction to rehabilitate as many prisoners as possible, for the benefit of society.

The training program is carried out under the supervision of a state committee, consisting of two members each from industry, the AFL and CIO, and independent representatives representing the public at large.

No industrial rehabilitation move can be made until it is decided by this group, the speakers said.

O. H. Olson was program chairman for the evening, and introduced the speakers.

Old BH Sewer Is To Be Abandoned

Menlo Park Sanitary District trustees last week moved to clear title to an old sewer easement, under whic hlies one of the mains which used to drain Camp Fremont here in World War I, to allow builders to construct permanent structures above the pipe.

Approval of abandonment of the easement must be approved by federal authorities befoe it becomes final. The old main was used by the sanitary district until about three years ago, when the district's treatment plant was put into operation.

The action to abandon the sewer was undertaken at the request of several of the area's title companies, who have complained that the limitation on building above the main has hampered sale of property.

The easement extended across Belle Haven from Bay road in the vicinity of the veterans' hospital, to the Dumbarton railroad cutoff.

Planners Ask OK Of Subdivision

The knotty problem of how to develop large, 400-foot-deep lots facing Gilbert street opposite Nova lane appeared near solution this week, with two of the owners getting approval of plans to combine forces, cut up a 12-lot subdivision around a cul-de-sac, and leave a walkway to the Willow school grounds.

The approval was given by the Menlo Park planning commission.

Various plans for resubdividing some of the large lots have been presented to the planners from time to time. But the would-be subdividers have heretofore failed to combine forces.

Monday night, property owners William Mathewson and Emil Schwab submitted their new plan, which showed the new possibility.

The commission recommended okay of the proposed cut-up to the city council.

Building Inspector At Conference Meet

James D. Steiger, Menlo Park's building inspector, this week attended the Pacific Coast Building Officials annual conference, being held in Denver, Colorado from Oct. 4 through yesterday.

His wife accompanied him on the trip, which will be followed by a week's vacation in the southwest.

At the conference, he is expected to study problems which have confronted other officials throughout the west, with an eye to uniformity in building codes used in all areas.

C of C Schools Panel Sets Study Objectives

Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce Public Schools committee, under the chairmanship of Harold Cross, has determined that its main objectives should be the study of expansion requirements of the Menlo Park Elementary district and to study the district's administrative and maintenance costs.

The objectives of the group were determined at a recent meeting.

With regard to the expansion requirements, Cross reported, the group will study the cost of adding on to present facilities, the cost of constructing new facilities, and the availability and cost of additional school sites ,should they be necessary.

Under the question of administrative and maintenance costs, committee members have set for study the district's administrative cost structure; it was decided that a number of experts in the field should be consulted before the panel forms any opinions on school costs, maintenance and construction.

Members of the committee, in addition to Chairman Cross, include John Breeden, Jack Robertson, Chester Dennis, Al Vandervoort, Richard Schlegel and Dr. G. Wendell Ulberg.

Next meeting of the group is scheduled for Oct. 12 at the Palo Alto Mutual branch office, Santa Cruz avenue and Crane street.

WELCOME!

This week saw the start of operations at the Menlo Park plant of the Johnson and Johnson company.

We recall that—when first announcement was made that the firm's new West Coast plant was to be located in the Bohannon industrial tract between Bayshore highway and the Dumbarton line of the Southern Pacific—certain parties thought it was to be in Redwood City.

We are delighted to see that the company is using Menlo Park as its address. No more fitting location could have been chosen by this leading manufacturer of baby supplies.

Babies are Johnson and Johnson's biggest concern. And certainly they are Menlo Park's biggest business.

To all the staff of Johnson and Johnson, we say, "Welcome, colleagues!"

Your City's Business

Special District Procedure

By CHARLES P. BURGESS

Continuing the description of the special assessment bond practice which the City of Menlo Park employs, we reach the point where the project has succeeded in passing the protest stage.

The Council then calls for bids on construction of the project.

The assessments which the city engineer has set on each parcel of property up to this point are based upon his estimate of the cost of the work to be done, his estimate of the cost of any property to be acquired, plus legal and engineering fees and an allowance for contingencies.

Only when the actual competitive bids for construction come in can we be sure that the assessments have been accurately set.

If construction bids are somewhat lower than estimated, or if they exceed the estimate by not more than the contingency item, the assessments will be confirmed as originally given.

If costs are materially higher than the estimate, then the assessments must be raised. If the increase is more than five per cent (I believe that is the figure) then the council must call another hearing to determine if a majority of the property will be protested on the basis of the higher assessment.

If a majority fails to protest, the council proceeds on the new basis.

When the assessments are officially confirmed, property owners are given an opportunity to pay in cash and clear their property of the assessment.

The council then calls for bids on a bond issue in the amount of the unpaid assessments. The bonds run either 10 or 15 years according to the council's determination. Sealed bids on the bonds are received by the council and the bond issue is awarded to the bidder offering the lowest rate of interest.

In recent years this has run about 4 per cent.

On a ten year bond issue, the property owner will pay ten per cent the first year on principal and about 4 per cent on interest, a total of 14 per cent of the assessment.

As principal is paid off, his interest charge will reduce, so that the average installment is about 12 per cent. On 15 year bonds, the initial year's cost will be about 11 per cent of the assessment, and the average year's cost about 9 per cent. On the present parking project we intend 24 year bonds, requiring only 8 per cent the first year and an average year of 6 per cent.

Initial bond charges are usually somewhat larger than the figures given above because interest runs from the date bonds are issued, whereas the tax year, starting July 1, may commence as much as 11 months later, and that extra interest must be met.

Under state law, if these assessment bonds are not paid principal and interest when due, for each delinquent issue the council is required to levy a city-wide tax of up to 10 cents per $100 to make good the deficiency, collecting later from the delinquent property owner or selling the property at tax sale.

About 20 years ago the city was required to levy a special city-wide tax of 75 cents per $100 to make good the delinquencies accumulated at that time.

Subsequently the city received back from payment of delinquent assessments almost all of the deficiencies.

I do not believe we shall in the future ever have to levy any material general tax for our present assessment bonds.

Our assessment debt now is much lower in relation to the city's assessed valuation, it stands mostly against improved property instead of against the vacant lots of the 1930's, and the city is building up reserve funds to take care of possible delinquencies.

Scouters Meet Tonight in County

Your Civilian Defense:

Emergencies Are Normal Business of Fire Department, Plans for 'Big One' Complete

(Fifth article of a series)

Should a war-type catastrophe strike in the bay area, the first warning of it will in all likelihood be transmitted through facilities of the Menlo Park Fire District, which forms one of the units of the Menlo Park civil defense council.

And should disaster — wartime or otherwise — strike in Menlo Park itself, the officers and men of the fire district, augmented by special civilian defense volunteers who have been undergoing training for the past two years—will put all their resources into the fight to save lives.

Actually, the fire-fighting problem which might accompany a disaster would be similar to the normal run of events with which the Menlo Park Fire District has to deal.

In some types of catastrophe, however, the firemen might have to concentrate on first aid; on others, on putting out blazes which might result from, say, an earthquake or an A-bomb.

Or the firemen might be called out of the district, under terms of its mutual assistance agreements with other cities, to aid in the quelling of conflagrations and the saving of lives there.

Menlo Park Fire District Commissioner Wallace E. Ott currently represents the Fire District on the civil defense council.

CLOSE COORDINATION

Coordination between the CD and firefighting headquarters must necessarily be close. For at headquarters station at 1077 Merrill street, the city's outlet in the state Civil Defense warning system is situated.

Should a warning of an air raid be received there, the familiar siren atop the headquarters drill tower would signal this throughout the downtown area, and the CD organization would go into action.

Too, the fire district has several portable power units, which might prove of use in life saving by the medical division; its squad trucks carry a myriad of rescue and first aid devices in addition to firefighting equipment.

All 60 firemen of the district's complement have had training in first aid; the 12 volunteers, who would report to headquarters station in case of an emergency, have also been trained in this as well as in firefighting.

The firemen's civilian defense job, it can be seen, consists of a variety of things.

Besides the putting out of fires, it might call for the sawing of timbers to liberate persons trapped in collapsed buildings; the use of cutting torches to break away debris and the giving of first aid to the injured.

MUST KNOW EQUIPMENT

Key to all this, as in its everyday firefighting, is knowledge of equipment. Regular firemen, and the reserves also, spend long hours of training in learning not only what equipment to use for a given job, but where to find it.

For instance, the district's squad trucks, all of different design, each carry upwards of 300 individual pieces of rescue, firefighting, or emergency equipment stowed in a variety of cabinets and lockers. Each fireman must know exactly where to look for each piece of equipment; there can be no lost time or motion.

The volunteers working with the firemen have been working for the past two years, attending meetings twice a month to keep abreast of techniques and other developments. They've been training under Captain Alfred Cleland.

National Guard Unit Sets Firing

Members of Menlo Park's national guard unit, battery D. 149th AA artillery battalion, will hold their next all-day small arms firing practice Oct. 17 at Fort Barry in Marin county, it was announced this week by battery officers.

The unit will join others of the 149th — which has batteries throughout San Mateo county, in the firing.

2 Menlo Park Men Pass CPA Exams

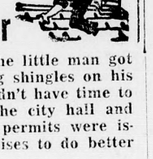

Viscount P. Allen of 114 Pope street and Bruce C. Fielding, 61 Los Trancos road, Menlo Park, are among 82 persons from throughout the state who recently passed the written examination for certified public accountant.

Announcement of the success of the two local men was made by the California Society of Certified Public Accountants.

'FACELIFTING'

Atherton' parking lot in front of the police station underwent a "facelifting" recently when seal coat was applied by the street department over the base rock foundation.

Menlo Building Barometer

This week, the little man got so busy putting shingles on his roof that he didn't have time to run down to the city hall and find out what permits were issued. He promises to do better next week.

Letters to the Editor:

Las Lomitas SD Constituent Urges Voters to Keep Classroom Need Paramount in Mind

Editor, The Recorder:

A public meeting was held in the Las Lomitas School District tonight for discussion of the October 8 bond election but those who came to hear both sides were disappointed for the opposition did not appear to present their arguments. Yet earlier today I received a printed post card signed by the Association of Taxpayers (what taxpayers I don't know for all at the meeting were taxpayers, too) asking for a "no" vote to persuade the trustees that parents want more classrooms nearer the center of the school population, not at "isolated" Ladera.

At the meeting evidence, such as student distribution maps, was presented to verify that Ladera school is properly located. However, it was pointed out that the location of future classrooms is not the issue. The president of the trustees said he would be happy to call a meeting on the question of location of additional classrooms if there was a demand for one, and if the citizens of the district were desirous that they be located elsewhere that could be done as no contracts have been signed and no legal commitments have been made regarding location of the school rooms.

Everyone apparently agrees that there is a need for more classrooms and I am convinced that the bonds should be passed. Why is the opposition confusing the issue? Why were they not present to present their case and to discuss the pros and cons in open democratic discussion as those in favor of the bonds were prepared to do.

I hope your paper will give some publicity to the factual information presented at tonight's meeting by the Citizens Advisory committee, a representative group which all voters of the district have been invited to join, and by the school administration.

The need for the bonds is clear. The issue must not be confused.

Richard M. Price.

This weekend our family had occasion to call the Menlo Park Fire Department for a relatively trivial matter, our Siamese cat apparently set to spend the rest of its days up a neighbor's tree. We were certainly impressed by the immediate and courteous service, and join all of those in our community who sing the praises of our excellent fire department.

Walter:

OLD STRATEGIST

"Rah! Rah! Rah!" yelled Walter the weathermouse, as he came into the office this week, waving a small pennant.

"You are acting like an Old Grad," we observed. "For what team are you boosting this week?"

'For my old team, Old Siwash," said the rodent.

"But that's a human-type," we countered. "Surely you didn't get out onto a field with all those big bruisers to trample you."

Aha," said our correspondent. Then he whispered:

Confidentially, I was the star of the game. The quarterback used to keep me in a little box in his jersey, and I would sneak out and chew the stitches on the football whenever I got a chance.

"Later in the game—usually about the third quarter—we'd manage to get the bladder out of the thing, and it looked like two footballs.

"You can sure make a lot of touchdowns if you have two footballs on the field."

25 Years Ago:

Group Met, Urged Wider El Camino

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that, 25 years ago this week, the following items, here reproduced exactly as first published, were news in the young community:

October 4, 1929:

"At a meeting held in the City Hall here Friday night formation of the Association for the Widening of El Camino Real was effected. Henry Witte of Redwood City was named permanent chairman and Daniel R. Stafford, also of Redwood City, elected secretary. Matt A. Harris of Atherton and W. H. Weeden of Menlo Park, were elected first and second vice presidents, respectively. The meeting was attended by councilmen and other officials from Redwood City, Atherton, Menlo Park, San Carlos and Belmont.

"The purpose of the association is to devise means for widening El Camino Real from Belmont to Palo Alto to a width of 100 feet. It is now 66 feet in width."

BRIDGE BUILDING

"Construction of a concrete bridge over San Francisquito bridge on the San Mateo-Santa Clara line on the Stanford University campus is expected to be completed in time for use at the Stanford-Southern California football game at Stanford stadium on October 26.

"The span replaces the old wooden structure which collapsed several months ago under the weight of a sightseeing bus. Seventeen lives were endangered by the collapse."

Set 'Motorcade' To Adlai Rally

The public is invited to join the caravan of cars for the Adlai Stevenson rally in San Francisco Saturday, Oct. 16, President Stanley M. Felix of the Menlo-Atherton Democratic club reported today.

The Menlo Park caravan will assemble at 6:15 p. m. in the city parking plaza off El Camino Real.

Only a few rally tickets are still available. Seats can be obtained by contacting Felix, 125 Heather drive, Atherton.

Among the county residents planning the Stevenson dinner and rally are Mrs. E. H. Heller, Clarence Heller and Joseph Eichler of Atherton and Mrs. Elizabeth Ryder of Menlo Park, secretary of the northern division of the California state Democratic central committee.

Scout 'Roundup' Here Oct. 15

All Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorers residing in the Live Oak district and members of their parents' families are invited to a "Round-Up" to be held Oct. 15 at Scouthaven, Menlo Park civic center, from 7:45 p. m. to 9 p. m.

An evening of fun is promised, say officers of the San Mateo county Boy Scout council.

DEMOCRAT VISITS HERE

Daniel Raeburn, Democratic nominee for the office of Secretary of State, this week visited Menlo Park on a "campaign swing" through this area.

MUTT AND JEFF — By Bud Fisher

30 Sign Up For Boxing Instruction

Thirty lads between ages of 8 and 16 years last week turned out for the first weekly boxing lesson of the current season, as the third annual rec department-VFW sponsored program got underway.

As in past years, the weekly sessions will continue until spring; as soon as the young boxers have developed sufficient skill, matches may be slated with other area clubs.

Instructors for the sessions have been named. Edgar Pabalis and Gabe Oller will coach the advanced boxers; Stan Sexton of the Menlo Park recreation department and George Lange and Willard potter of VFW post 7145 will instruct the tyros.

Classes start at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays and there are still a few openings for more boys.

For the VFW, Lange is chairman of the program and Potter is serving as his assistant.

'UN Week' Given As Peninsula Symphony Theme

Peninsula symphony orchestra will "provide the occasion and the background music" for an observance of United Nations week at the first concerts of the fall season, Oct. 22 and 23.

The pair of concerts will be held at Sequoia high school auditorium in Redwood City beginning at 8:30 p. m. with Aaron Sten as conductor for his sixth season with the orchestra.

The symphony board of directors met Monday night in Redwood City to complete arrangements for the observance which will begin the program. All arrangements will be under the joint San Carlos-Redwood City committee for United Nations week, it was announced.

Richard Elkus of Woodside, president of the First National bank of San Mateo county, will give a brief talk on the United Nations and how it benefits our United States as a member country of the UN.

Other selections which will be played at the concert by the group of non-professional musicians will include the Symphony No. 2 in D Minor, Opus 70, by Antonin Dvorak; Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in G Minor No 2, Opus 22, by Camille Saint-Saens, and the Suite from the ballet "Gayaneh" by Aram Khatchatourian. Miss Elena Guirolo Hitchcock, noted concert pianist who is now residing in San Mateo, will be the featured soloist.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, funds campaign director Norman Meyer reported continuing donations to the symphony but said that not all workers have reported. For this reason he requested from the board a continuance on the campaign until the report is complete.

The symphony, now in its sixth season, is entirely supported by the peninsula community through donations and boxoffice receipts. Sustaining donations of $25 are received from private individuals, club organizations and from businesses and are listed on the program. Smaller donations are received as well and all donors receive complimentary tickets.

Supporting donations may be sent to the Peninsula Symphony association, P. O. Box 732, Redwood City, according to Don Smith, Menlo Park, members of the board.

Archery Course Opens Here Oct. 16

Field archery for boys of 10 years through high school age, will begin Saturday, Oct. 16 at Burgess park archery range, it was announced this week. Sessions will be held weekly through the school year, and will last from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Purpose of the course, says Miss Gayle Allinger, playground supervisor, who has been named to take charge of the program, is to learn hunting techniques. Charles W. Gebhardt, a member of the national Field Archery association, is the volunteer instructor. He has had extensive previous experience, giving instruction before the San Francisco Boys' club when a resident of that area.

Those joining the course will have to provide their own equipment.

HUNTERS TAKE TROPHIES

NIMRODS' LUCK—A lot of Menlo Park men trekked to the Sierras, the Cascades, and such areas last week, when the state's inland deer season opened. And none came back much luckier than Lieutenant Commander D. N. Hawkes (standing, right) who shot a spike and Ronald Laucella, who got the two-pointer being held up for inspection. Butcher Burt Barteaux is shown, left, surveying the animals, each of which dressed out at better than 100 pounds. The deer were shot near Poker Flat and Mohawk in the Sierras. —Menlo Camera Shop photo

Strictly Two-Beat:

Jazz Club to Bring Dixieland-Type Music To Burgess Gym for Dance Set for Oct. 15

"New Orleans Jazz" will come to Menlo Park next week, when the Palo Alto Jazz club sponsors a dance at Burgess park gym, Oct. 15 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Menlo Park musicians will have a hand in the production, which will feature music by a six-piece aggregation gathered together by Gerun Moore of Palo Alto. Moore explains that the group will play authentic jazz, but will depart from that if the dancers present request other types of music.

On drums will be Howard Newman, of Menlo Park, who though a native of California performed with several bands and orchestras in Chicago during the 1930's.

Moore, himself a native of New Orleans and 23 years a professional musician, will take over the clarinetists' chores for the evening.

Other members of the orchestra include Bill Hesketh of San Mateo, piano; Charles O'Connor of Palo Alto on trumpet; Tommy Slaton of Mountain View on trombone and Russ Spaulding of San Mateo on string bass.

The instrumentation is authentic for the type of music to be played, says Moore, although it differs slightly from that used by some local two-beat groups. Some of the latter have retained tubas and banjos in the rhythm section and play what's called, locally, "San Francisco Jazz." Moore says that this instrumentation began to vary about the turn of the century.

All of the musicians have had long experience in the business.

O'Connor will bring a bit of his Greenwich Village training with him next week. He has played with such artists as George Brunis and Bobby Hackett.

Slaton, before moving to the coast, was a musician in Chicago.

Everybody's welcome to the Oct. 15 affair, tickets for which will be available at the door.

Wrestling to Be Taught for Adults

Amateur wrestling will be taken up as a program for the city's adults, it was announced this week by Rec Director Fred Parsons.

If enough interest is shown, the local group can join in competition with college and athletic club teams from around the area, says Parsons. An instructor will be named shortly.

All interested persons are urged to contact Parsons at the Rec department's headquarters at Burgess park gym, DA 2-1727, at the earliest possible moment.

All practice will be supervised, says Parsons.

Afterschool Football Opener Near

Football clinics and team practice sessions were underway at Menlo Park elementary schools this week, in preparation for the opening of touch football competition Oct. 22.

Getting the program in motion were after-school playground directors, recently hired to aid the combined city rec department-school district sponsored activity.

The playground directors who are getting the teams in shape include:

Hillview School: Duane B. McGhie, graduate student in the School of Education at Stanford and high school coach for the past several years, will fill one of the positions. Phillip Pease will work with him.

Encinal School: Horace Aubertine, graduation student at Stanford with a number of years experience in teaching and Boy Scout counseling work, will work three days a week. The five day man has not been selected as yet.

Oak Knoll School: Crittenden E. Brooks is also a graduate student in counseling and guidance at Stanford. He is a high school teacher with considerable physical education experience.

Fremont School: Bill Garnett, law student at Stanford with a number of years of Red Cross counseling experience.

City Re-Issues Invitation to Casaba Players

Menlo Park recreation department this week reiterated its invitation to all the area's prospective A, B and Industrial class basketballers to sign up as soon as possible, for the coming season.

Stan Sexton, who will be in charge of casaba league play at the gym this fall, points out that there will be no restrictions on where players may be from; nonresidents as well as residents are invited to participate in this year's program.

Interested players or team representatives should call Sexton at DA 2-1727 for further details.

High School:

POOL READY

Menlo-Atherton high school's eagerly-awaited swimming pool was filled with water this week, and athletes under instruction of Coach Tommy O'Neill will get their first dips into it on Friday.

Actually, the pool was ready for use Wednesday but Water Polo team headed by O'Neill was traveling that day and today, so they didn't get to use it the minute it was completed.

Up to this week, they've been journeying across Stanford Village for practice at the Burgess park pool.

Paddock engineering company built the pool, part of a gym-pool set-up being completed at the high school. Architects for the unit are Janssen, Daseking Keller of Menlo Park; Bogdanich construction company of Santa Clara has been doing the work on the gym.

'Cross Country' Is New Sport At Menlo-Atherton

Eleven Menlo-Atherton students, about half of them freshmen, will journey to San Jose State college today to participate in the second cross-country tournament of the year.

Last week the cindermen, under the direction of George Egan of the high school faculty, journeyed to Hayward where they placed third in a three-way meet against competition from Hayward and San Lorenzo high schools.

The competition was tougher than it might seem from the record, however, because Hayward won its own east bay league last year. Menlo-Atherton, in the PAL, placed well down in the standings but hasn't yet been tested against its old home territory riavls.

Today's meet will see Menlo-Atherton competing with several teams from the San Jose area, some not yet definitely known as the Recorder went to press.

This year's "cross-country" is an officially recognized sport at Menlo-Atherton, for the first time, the sport was practiced last year, but no letters were given squad members

Bear Varsity Meets Top PAL Contender in SJ Tomorrow

Coach Howard Costello takes the Menlo-Atherton varsity against the PAL favorites tomorrow, when the Bears tangle with Lincoln at the latter team's home field in San Jose. Kickoff time will be 3:15 p.m.

And although the locals were edged in their opener against Los Gatos Thursday, he feels his team will provide an interesting game. The same squad, made up largely of veterans, which started against Los Gatos will probably get the call again on Friday.

Lincoln's Coach Lee Cox is apt to run almost anything but the locals are expecting him to keep the attack running from a T.

The Lions, who won the championship of the PAL last year, features heavier linemen this year than last. For a starter, they polished off Capuchino by a 14-7 score in their opener last week.

LOOKS FOR PASSER

Costello, whose localites kept to the ground for all but five plays last week, is still trying to develop a passer to give the Bears a better rounded attack.

To keep his starters intact he's concentrated on lighter drills this week, with a scrimmage Tuesday. Today's drills will be mainly of the limbering up variety to keep everybody in shape.

The tentative starting lineup shows old dependables Tom Blackwood in the quarterback spot, Pete Welch at one of the halfback positions and Troy Ratliff as fullback. New team member Dunc Ferguson, who got his first starting spot last Saturday is expected to be ready to go also.

In the line, where everybody has a year of varsity play behind him except the guards, the lineup will see Bill Hilton and Leon Finegold at the ends, Beryl Clark and Larry Anderson at tackles, Jim Fitch and Bill Boorman at the guard spots and Bill Douglas at center.

Menlo-Atherton may still have the best team in its history, it was indicated by last week's opener against Los Gatos.

The locals, which Coach Costello has consistently described as "somewhat better" than last year's team, led a highly-touted Los Gatos aggregation for half the game. Stastically the locals weren't far behind Los Gatos, either.

Both teams stayed pretty much on the ground, with the locals attempting only four passes for two completions and the 'Cats taking to the air just five times, with two completions. One of the latter, however, was good enough to bring about the deciding touchdown.

They scored, after a 63-yard march, the first time they got possession of the ball, threatened once more in the first quarter before forfeiting the ball on Los Gatos' 12, and in the second quarter got their final TD into the end zone with veteran Pete Welch running 40 yards for the score.

Frosh-Sophs Meet Sequoia Today in RC

Menlo-Atherton's frosh-soph football team—or at least 44 of the 78 who turned out for it—will suit up this afternoon as the group runs into its first competition, against Sequoia there today at 3:15 p.m.

Coaches Frank Bettencourt and Sam Lugonja pronounced their troops ready to travel this week, and although naming offensive and defensive starters, admitted they plan to put in lots of substitutes to see if they can find the best possible combination.

And although rating Sequoia as sort of an unknown, they admitted that it usually turns out to be a pretty tough customer when it drops its mask.

Sequoia, like Menlo-Atherton, runs out of a T.

Coaches Bettencourt and Lugonja said they will probably stick mostly to running.

Offensive starting platoon, will see Larry Miller in the quarterback spot, with Don Powell and Hal Turner in the halfback slots and Ray Carter at full.

Charlie Dahl and Ralph McIntyre are slated for end spots, Ed Malone and John Meese for tackles, Bill Menta and George Brown gor guards and Pete Kaldveer for center.

Defensively the club will change a few faces and Tom Strong is expected to go in as middle guard, Ron Harris as line backer, Jerry Bensen as end and J. Livingstone at tackle.

The frosh-soph team will suit up four full elevens for the match and before the afternoon is over, theres' no telling how many will get a chance to play.

However, on last Friday, the team did have a scrimmaging workout with Jefferson high school, which proved to be enlightening to both teams as to their faulty plays and weak and strong spots.

Jefferson started out on the offensive; our defense proved more than adequate for the protection of our goal. Ends Ralph McIntyre and Ray Pancharian and halfbacks Hal and Howie Turner proved to be extremely capable in this respect.

Fullback Ray Carter made several good tackles, although he was to prove his full worth later on on M-A's offense.

On our offense, most of quarterback Jim Finegold's fine long passes were not completed, so the club turned its tactics to running, which produced considerable success.

His turn-on-a-dime agility amazed the spectators, and it always appeared to take more than one man to drag him down.

Co-fullbacks Ray Carter and Tom Stronger and Howie Turner also made many gains, with some good interference blocking by Bill Menta and Ralph McIntyre.

Water Polo Team Kicks Off First Season

Facing Sequoia yesterday afternoon and tangling with James Lick at San Jose today, Tommy O'Neill's Menlo-Atherton water poloists open their first season this week. Only a couple of colds have hung on to hamper the team, which has inexperience as a main enemy.

Sequoia, a PAL team, has been putting water polo teams into the water for several years now; James Lick, however, is a newcomer like Menlo-Atherton and O'Neill looks for his best show there. However, James Lick isn't in the PAL.

Diving in for the first whistle were to be Andy Schwartz, spring forward; Roger Clark and Spencer Johnston, forwards; Keith Holluefer, Bill Augenstine and Bob Adams, guards. Gary Dodson will be goalie if Menlo-Atherton starts by defending the pool's deep end; Don Genasci will take over at the shallow end.

Reserves on hand will be Drew Johnson, Gary Olson, Sam McErlane, Chuck Weesner, Bill Schaffer, Bill Lawson and Walt Schreck.

Following is a schedule of meets in which the water polo team will participate during the forthcoming season (PAL matches starred):

Oct. 7—James Lick there.
Oct. 13—Palo Alto there.*
Oct. 20—Carlmont there.*
Oct. 21—Santa Clara at Menlo-Atherton.
Oct. 27—Sequoia at Menlo-Atherton.*
Oct. 28—James Lick at Menlo-Atherton.
Nov. 3—Palo Alto at Menlo-Atherton.*
Nov. 10—Carlmont at Menlo-Atherton.*
Nov. 15 and 16—Tournament at James Lick high school.

'Chromoglyphs' On Show at SRI

Nicholas M. Roukes, 2551 Illinois street, East Palo Alto, opens a month-long exhibit of his "chromoglyphs" today in the main lobby of Stanford Research Institute.

The display is one of a regular series arranged by the Institute to acquaint the community with the work of talented artists, both local and national.

"Chromoglyphs" is the word invented by Roukes to describe his artistic creations combining elements of painting and sculpture. The method is the result of six years' research and testing of materials and effects.

Hung in conventional frames, the works are built up with wood, metal, clay and cement

Owner Tells Problems:

Library Trustees Meet, View 'Stalemate' Facing Expansion

Faced with a stalemate on their hopes for an enlarged Menlo Park library, members of the city's board of library trustees say that they are still seeking alternatives which will eventually accomplish their aims.

Meetings in the past couple of months with city and county library officials, Mrs. Genevieve Sklare, owner of the present library building and the city planning commission have alternately raised and lowered hopes for expansion, according to the board.

Tuesday evening an informal meeting was held at the library which was attended by the city trustees, Jack Peak, chairman, and Warren Natwick, Mrs. Lee Greenleaf and Mrs. R. M. Rogaway; Miss Joan Rucker, Menlo Park librarian; Miss Virgina Ross, San Mateo county librarian, and Miss Rose Vainstein, a library field representative from the state. Dr. S. W. Chan, trustee, was unable to attend.

No action was taken at this meeting which was mainly for information purposes. Miss Vainstein discussed libraries throughout the state in terms of what cities of a size comparable to Menlo Park had as facilities and services.

Discussion was held on branches and "behind-the-scenes" work as well.

in the present form now in effect in Menlo Park, the county conMiss Vainstein pointed out that tributes the books and trained personnel, familiar with the system and facilities offered by the county. The city can offer the library building and supplementary service. However, should the city ever become independent of the county, several problems would arise.

ADVANTAGES

Additional working space and personnel would be primarily necessary since the work of book repair and cataloguing and ordering would have to be done and require a workroom and warehouse space.

Many phases of library work, such as the simplest job of numbering the books and shellacking over the numbers would have to be done whereas now this work is handled by the county.

By remaining an affiliated city-county library, which is exactly what the board wishes to continue, the local library can devote practically all of its expansion to book space for the reader-member. At the same time any future expansion would permit the city to accumulate city-owned books through the years.

Meanwhile, the stalemate:

As matters stand, no expansion of the present site will be accomplished unless the board signs a 10 year lease with Mrs. Sklare, owner, who in return would enlarge their present space almost twice by building an addition.

The board is reluctant to bind the library even to the expanded building since they feel that if the present rate of increase in population for the city is maintained, the new facilities will be outgrown at the end of seven years.

SEES HIGH COST

At the same time, Mrs. Sklare feels that due to planning restrictions, which would force her to convert the present library into duplexes at great personal expense, if and when the library moves, she needs a 10 year lease in order to receive an even return on the property.

The planning commission has ruled that unless a provision is made for parking, she will not be able to eventually lease the building for professional offices (as she had planned), but she must convert the building to duplexes.

Mrs. Sklare feels that she has cooperated with the library board as far as she is able since present indications show that if she did enlarge the building for even the seven years which the board asks, she will have to either tear down the new addition or convert to residential dwellings.

This "gamble" should take for 10 years she said, but not for seven.

The present set-up can continue for two to five years on lease, Mrs. Sklare said, but if the board presses for the one year lease which they are now asking, she will ask a higher rent for the coming year. She feels that the year to year leasing is depriving her of tenants who would be interested in the building as it stands for a longer period of time.

UC Leaders Laud Atherton Council

Atherton town council this week drew plaudits from United Crusade leaders in the city, for naming October "United Crusade month" there. In a letter to Mayor Harry Mitchell, a spokesman for local committee for the United Crusade observed:

"(Your help) is an outstanding example of public service. The impetus it lends the United Crusade is tremendous.

"We are sure, that with your official support and the hard work of our volunteers, Atherton's quota of $26,069 will soon be reached. . . ."

The missive was signed by Mrs. William Bancroft, publicity chairman for the Atherton Crusade, on behalf of the committee headed by chairman and co-chairman Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Richards.

Nobody Injured In Atherton Mishap

There were no injuries sustained Tuesday in a two car collision at El Camino Real and Selby lane in Atherton.

The accident occurred when Verona Alice McCann, 670 Woodside road, attempted a left-hand turn off El Camino Real as one of the southbound cars stopped for her. Arthur Lewis of Redwood City, driving a car which was towing a motorcycle, tried to stop, too, then swerve, but the cycle pushed him forward, and he was struck by the first car.

Both vehicles were badly damaged, the first car receiving the greatest injury.

'Lawn Clinic' Set Here for Coming Weekend

Area home gardeners with lawn or plant problems will have an opportunity to consult a plant pathologist, free, next weekend, Oct. 9 and 10, at Roger Reynolds nursery, 1600 El Camino Real, Menlo Park.

Dr. L. A. Waitzinger, plant pathologist and lawn expert, will conduct a "lawn clinic" each of the two days from 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and home gardeners are invited to bring their problems to him for discussion.

Dr. Waitzinger is at present conducting the garden workshop for the Palo Alto adult school program. He was formerly in charge of the grass breeding program at McGill university before coming to Palo Alto.

During a sojourn at Stanford university, Dr. Waitzinger was in charge of the experimentfal gardens and he has also served as a plant pathologist for the California state department of agriculture.

Parking Plans . . .

er with this "wing" development.

Mayor Michael L. Belangie, however, expressed again his firm opinion that this plan would be far from adequate.

If the council determined to go ahead with it, he said, he would consider it a step in the right direction and would not oppose it, although he would not vote in favor of it.

Councilman William R. Lawson repeated his feeling that it was not just for the council to exercise eminent domain in acquiring properties for parking use if only the less expensive properties are taken. The "compromise" plan and the new committee proposal both leave untouched comparatively high priced parcels.

Burgess, while reaffirming his opinion that the "wing" development could be best in the long run, declared that its benefits would be greatly reduced if the proposed Bettencourt supermarket were to go in as already planned at the corner of Menlo and Curtis streets.

This would break up the "wing" development envisioned along Chestnut, he pointed out, and would reduce effectiveness of any Menlo avenue entry to the parking area in that block.

CRITERIA STATED

The property-owners committee stated four criteria followed in arriving at their proposal:

"1. What will be supported by the largest number of property owners in the assessment area.

"2. What will result in a maximum of convenience to shoppers.

"3. What will contribute toward the permanent stability of the present central business district.

"4. What is the most efficient use of assessment funds."

Besides Giannotti, the members of the committee signing the report were: William O. Feikner, Rose Blackwood, V. S. Seybold, and D. P. McKelvey.

Afternoon Bridge Group To Meet at Mrs. Sperry's

Down to Earth:

Few People Present, but School Trustees Learned of Landscaping Problems Anyhow

By TERRY LEE

The school board and some 10 fortunate citizens who took the trouble to attend last Wednesday's board meeting certainly received an education.

On finances, business methods, design, philosophy, city planning, engineering, art, functionalism, economics and personalities.

This is what a landscape architect has to know, and what we will get for spending some $200 for a master plan for each school, and an additional amount (calculated at about $5 an hour) for supervision of work.

The district has some $14,000 to spend on landscaping, but as John Boucher explained, most of this will have to be spent for grading the land around the four schools, installing sprinkler systems and drains, improving the soil, and plantng turf.

All of the money will be spent for things under the ground or with the ground, and very little will show.

But this first big expenditure is essential, or we will be tearing out year after year what we have done the year before.

As every home owner knows, this is the backbone of further upkeep and planting. The plan comes first, then grading and drains, sprinklers and good soil.

ECONOMY SEEN

It is important to do these thinks to the four schools at the same time, and complete the jobs. There is an "economical unit," and when $5000 is necessary for drains $500 would be a waste of money.

The schools have maintenance men, and also possess a certain amount of pipe, so it will be more economical to hire a landscape architect to supervise our personnel, at so much per hour, than let him do the whole job at a pay of 8 per cent of the total cost.

Every citizen in this community should be interested in a master landscaping plan for the schools.

As Ed Williams said, "Any school not developed is a blight to the neighborhood."

He spoke of our general pride in public buildings, and the willingness of San Francisco citizens to pay $260,000 for tiling the tunnel approach to the Golden Gate bridge. Certainly the pride and funds exist. Think of what a school that amount of pride and money would build!

BEAUTY A NECESSITY

A beautiful school is not only important for the general appearance of the community, but for the educational environment of the childen who go there.

Recreation areas and outdoor classrooms are in integral part of school life.

Certain areas need to be turfed to provide a soft surface for games, and at the same time hold down the mud and dust.

Trees need to be planted, as they are the most important element in giving a good, visual quality to the buildings and tying them to the general landscape and neighborhood.

When the plans are drawn (and they include a complete plant list) and the heavy earth?moving tasks are done, I hope many citizens will stand up, as one did, representing the Hillview PTA, and say something like he did: that the PTA has given money to bul plants to lanscape the front o fthe school, "as a living memorial to the interest of parents in that community."

GARDEN CALENDAR
WEEK OF OCT. 7

As soon as the last vegetables and flowers are gathered from annual crops, the plants may be added to the compost heap.

Then the soil is turned over and a cover crop sown.

A cover crop prevents erosion and leaching of the soil during winter rains, and when it is turned under in the spring, will add humus.

It also makes the bare vegetable plot pleasant during the winter. Winter rye and small grains are popular, but I like white clover best because it is handsome and adds a lot of nitrogen to the soil.

* * *

The heat has made watering all-important again. Don't forget to rinse dust off leaves by giving every plant a good spraying with water. Camellias especially need to be kept moist or they will drop their buds.

* * *

If your camellia buds seem overcrowded, gently twist off one or two in the cluster. Try to leave buds of different size, as they will bloom at different times.

* * *

That white moth hovering above your lawn at dusk is laying eggs.

The larvae hatch in a week and eat the blades of grass, leaving irregular brown spots in the lawn.

Two pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT will treat 1000 square feet.

Second Graders Press Leaves

Anybody interested in preserving leaves, in all their autumn glory ,can learn how from the pupils in Miss Genevieve Moran's second grade class at Fremont school. The youngsters are pressing such leaves between sheets of waxed paper, using a hot iron.

This preserves the leaf and its color; how long, nobody knows as yet.

MAHS Lightweights Face First PAL Matches

Menlo-Atherton lightweight basketballers open their PAL season against Sequoia today, looking pretty good but not quite as good as last year when they swept the SPAL.

This from Coach Robert Ayers, whose D-class team dropped games in a six-meet practice session, while the C's won all of their games.

Openers today are to be the same as when the practice season opened two weeks ago. Nat Floyd is to start as the D loop's center, where he and forward Kenny Smith seem the most impressive and Mike Mirsky will operate the pivot for the C's. Bob Wendell is rated the most promising forward on that team.

Last Thursday, the D's looked real good as they managed to beat Centerville's Washington high school D's by a 32-20 score and the C's had the rough going, winning 37-35.

Friday, against Fremont of Sunnyvale, the situation was reversed with the D's narrowly escaping defeat 26-24, while the C's outdistanced their rivals 37-22.

Menlo College Tells Schedule

Following is a schedule of remaining games to be played by Menlo College's football team:

Oct. 8, San Francisco State JVs, Menlo, 2:30 p. m.

Camera Club Meets Next Week

"Black and white" photography an dprint judging will be the topics at the next meeting of the Camino Camera club, to be held at 8 p. m. Oct. 13 at the yellow room of the city council chambers building, Menlo Park civic center.

All interested photographers are always welcome at camera club meets, officers of the group reiterated.

Stanford Players Set Drama Series

The Stanford Players have announced two subscription series, one in the Main auditorium and one in the Little theater.

The main auditorium series will include "The Alchemist," by Ben Jonson, "Mary of Scotland," by Maxwell Anderson, and the first performance on the west coast of Igor Stravinsky's opera "The Rake's Progress."

The Little theater series will include Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth," Shaw's "Misalliance," and Belasco's "The Girl of the Golden West."

Season ticket applications are being accepted now.

Teachers' Dance Class Open in SC

Area teachers have been invited to earn college credits in a course, "Folk Dancing for Elementary Schools," currently being presented under the auspices of the San Jose State college extension services division. The class meets on Thursdays at Tierra Linda school in San Carlos, and tonight's class will mark the deadline for registration.

The 13 - week course carries three quarter units of credit. Class sessions start at 7:30 p. m., according to Mrs. Neva Duncan of Menlo Park, who is instructor for the class.

The course is listed as PE 140 ES in the college catalog, and carries upper division credit.

Square Dancers Meet in RC

Beginners are invited to join "Tex's Longhorns," a new square-dancing groups meeting Tuesdays from 8 to 10:30 p. m. at Fair Oaks school, Fair Oaks and Barren road, Redwood City. Plan Los Trancos Woods Home:

Mary Cuff, Robert S. Blach Wed Saturday in Menlo Park

Mary Patricia Cuff, daughter of Fire Chief and Mrs. Thomas F. Cuff, knelt at the altar of the Church of the Nativity Saturday morning during an 11 a.m. Nuptial Mass which united her in marriage with Robert Scheer Blach of Los Altos.

The bride, escorted by her father, was radiant in a cathedral-trained gown of the traditional white slipper satin styled with short puff sleeves, illusion neckline and full gored skirt.

Many of the precious things Mary wore had been donned by family brides before her. Her veil of tulle was clasped by a rose-point lace tiara from her mother's wedding veil; a rope of crystals was from her grandmother and a handmade lace handkerchief had been made for and carried by both her mother and her sister, Mrs. Donald A. (Dolores) Gaut.

PRAYER BOOK

A prayer book marked with orchids and lily-of-the-valley completed the bride's wedding ensemble.

Mrs. Gaut preceded Mary as matron of honor, while secondary attendants were Margaret Paccioretti, Joan Blach and Patricia Blach, the latter two sisters of the bridegroom.

The honor matron's frock was of pale pink faille accented with American Beauty velvet bows. The full length dress, styled along princess lines with a swan back, was matched by a wide picture hat.

The three bridesmaids wore identical dresses in pale green faille with accents of dark green velvet. All four carried armsful of long-stemmed American Beauty roses tied with velvet ribbon to match the bows on their dresses.

BRIDEGROOM

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Blach Sr. of Los Altos, had chosen one of his brothers, James Blach, as best man. Ushers were Don Blach, another brother, Donald Gaut and Loren Hergert. Allan and Michael Blach, Bob's youngest brothers, served as altar boys, and Tommy Gaut, the bride's nephew, was ring-bearer.

Following the Mass, some 300 guests gathered in the garden of the Cuff home on Johnson street, and were received by the bride and bridegroom who stood beneath a large oak tree.

Mrs. Cuff, dressed in mauve crepe with royal blue accessories, also greeted the many friends and relatives as did the mother of the bridegroom, who had donned a soldier blue crepe frock and black velvet accessories.

DEPARTURE

After the cake was cut, Mary disappeared to change into her going-away outfit, a brown and white tie silk dress with brown accessories. Where the newlyweds departed for was a secret.

They will return to their new home in Los Trancos Woods.

The bride attended St. Joseph's school and was graduated from Sequoia high school. Her husband, a Bellarmine alumnus, studied at the California Polytechnic institute. He has, besides the brothers and sisters in the bridal party, three more sisters — Georgina, Mary and Mrs. Arthur Henrique—and a duo of brothers, John Jr. and Dick.

Mary Blach shared guest book duties with Leticia Kevin at the reception.

Carol McKenna Is Bride of John M. Meltzer

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McKenna of Atherton are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Carol Ruth, to John M. Meltzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meltzer of Mountain View.

The couple, who are making their new home in Mountain View, exchanged wedding vows last Thursday in Reno, Nevada.

The bride is a graduate of Menlo-Atherton high school and has one sister, Lois McKenna, and a brother, Ken McKenna.

A Palo Alto high school alumnus, the bridegroom served for two years with the marine corps and is currently employed with a local dairy company.

'Storybook' Party at the Weirs' Ushers In New Season of Plays for Area Young Set

By MARY MACK

Mrs. Frederick Weir entertained the members of the Peninsula Childrens' Theater association and their children recently at her Atherton home to herald the opening of the current theater year.

All guests were asked to come as characters from the three plays which the group will present this season: "The Emperor's New Clothes" November 6 and 13: "The Adventures of Simple Simon" January 29 and February 15 and "The Wizard of Oz" March 12 and 26.

Several family groups came en masse to represent a special play. Brothers Malcolm and Charles Hawk, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hawk of Palo Alto, turned out as Emperors, complete with regal robes and jewelled crowns.

"PIEMAN"

Mrs. Wilton Wilson of Atherton made a professional-looking pieman as she "met" three Simple Simons in the persons of her children. Still another Simple Simon was Mrs. George Rossi of Hillsborough, head of production for the association, who teamed with Mrs. William Bancroft of Menlo Park, whose chief props were a tall chef's hat and a real fresh-baked apple pie!

Since the group will present its own spring production of "The Wizard," Mrs. Henry Clausen of San Mateo as Dorothy and Mrs. Andre Dubbs of Menlo Park as the Scarecrow might be looking ahead to actually playing the parts they dressed for. Also, Mrs. Bruce Wildman, San Mateo, with her authentic Tin Woodman's helmet might really "tread the boards."

Hit of the day was the hostess herself, who donned a clown costume and reminded her small guests that a "Name the Clown" contest (see the front section of the Recorder for entry blank and more details) is being sponsored by the PCTA members.

THE PRIZES

The lucky clown-namer will receive 10 silver dollars and a part in the "Wizard of Oz." Judges are the directors of the three productions—Paul Beaudry, Jules Irving and Stanley Glenn.

Entries in the contest as well as requests for season tickets ($1.50) should be addressed to Box 783, Menlo Park, or may be purchased at 1024 Alma street, where Mrs. Oleg Gattenberger of Atherton and her committee members are staffing a reservations office. Two telephone numbers to call for tickets are DA 5-3346 or DA 5-1487.

Incidentally, Mrs. Weir and her daughter Wendy and Mrs. James Mack with son Steve appeared yesterday on the television program "Join the Gang" to publicize the three plays.

BACK TO PARTY

Back to the party again: refreshments and balloons were dispensed to the guests on the terrace of the Weirs' spacious modern home. The youngsters were delighted with the Weir "menagerie" which included a mother cat named "Penny" and her two kittens, a tame rat (which appealed more to the young fry than their mothers), "Spot," a friendly dalmation puppy, and a fascinating aquarium filled with bright tropical fish and tiny crayfish.

The adult guests were more intrigued in the home itself. Mrs. Scott Morrison, a Hillsboroughite, exclaimed over the free-form broadloom rugs in the living area, while others were seen examining the interesting candles on the buffet—circled by truck springs (of all things!) refurbished by Ellie to complement her modern dining-room wallpaper.

Mrs. William Riley of Hillsborough, president of the association, was accompanied by her son, Tommy, who dressed up in a clown suit. Mrs. Joseph Henske Jr.'s young son son Jay represented a captain of the Emperor's guard, while Bobby Weir roared like a most courageous "Cowardly Lion" in his un - air - conditioned costume and mask.

Due to the lack of room and barrage of pictures this week, photographs of three of the newlywed couples whose stories appear on this page will be found inside.

"ADVENTURES OF SIMPLE SIMON"—Mrs. William Bancroft of Menlo Park (left) donned a chef's cap for her role as Pieman; exchanging comments on the pie is Mrs. Joseph Henske Jr., another localite, as Simple Simon. This is the second in the series of plays, performance dates: January 29 and February 15.

Justwed Wendell Lee Barnes' Are Now At Home in Florida

One of the season's most beautiful brides, Mrs. Wendell Lee Barnes (Jeanne Louise Rego) is now setting up housekeeping with her young husband in De Land, Florida.

The couple were married at the Church of the Nativity on September 25, following which they received 150 wedding guests in the Garden room of the Villa Chartier, and from there, departed on their honeymoon trip across country to Florida.

The bride, who won the title of "Miss San Mateo County of 1953" the year after her graduation from Menlo-Atherton high school, is the daughter of Mrs. Isabelle C. Rego of Menlo Park and Joseph Rego of Honolulu, Hawaii.

FROM FLORIDA

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Foster L. Barnes of White Springs, Florida.

Jeanne's brunette beauty was accented during the Noon Nuptial Mass by a ballerina length gown of French lace and tulle. Covering the tight-fitting bodice was a long-sleeved Empire lace jacket trimmed with a row of tiny satin buttons down the front.

The full skirt, adorned with lace, was scalloped midway over layers of tulle, which in turn were worn over satin. Jeanne's bouquet was formed from catelya and philanopsis orchids, with strands of fragrant pikake leis reaching to the tip of the gown.

Mrs. Gilbert Periera of San Bruno, the bride's only sister, served as honor matron preceding bridesmaids Patricia Chew, Laura Loeffel, Jacquelin Dichiera and Patricia Carnevale.

The attendants all wore pastel shaded crystalette frocks of shantung fashioned with deep V-necklines, full ballerina skirts and large bows tied in the back. Mrs. Periera's bouquet was a spray of large blue vanda orchids: the secondary attendants carried orchid leis, heart-shaped, which reached to hemline.

At the reception the bridesmaids wore, rather than carried, their leis in accordance with the Hawaiian motif, so planned because the bride was born in the Islands. Anthuriums and orchids also lent a tropical note.

Michael Marini stood beside the bridegroom during the ceremony read by Father Clark. Ushers were Joseph Petrovich, John Paseley, Floyd (Bud) Fisher and Don Brumleave.

SOLOIST

Joan Frederick of Los Altos rendered the solo selections accompanied by organist Mrs. Edna Crane Burchfield.

Mrs. Rego viewed the ceremony in an ivory brocaded satin gown with which she wore mauve accessories and a lavendar orchid corsage. Mrs. Mary K. "Mom" Stern took the place of the bridegroom's mother, who, with Mr. Barnes was unable to attend the wedding. Mrs. Stern's frock was of deep lavender silk shantung worn with matching accessories and a white catelya orchid.

An alumnus of Florida State university, the bridegroom participated in the famous FSU Circus and was affiliated with the Cavaliers, Kappa Alpha social fraternity and Sigma Delta Psi honorary fraternity.

Former Athertonian Married September 26 in San Carlos

Now residents in Las Vegas, Nevada, are the justwed Mr. and Mrs. Donn Ramon Austin Jr. (Patricia Eloise Green), who were married by the Rev. Weldon Batty September 26 at the Community church of San Carlos.

The bride, formerly of Atherton, is the daughter of Mrs. Carl M. Green and the late Mr. Green. The bridegroom's parents are the late Colonel and Mrs. Austin Sr. of Redwood City.

Both Pat and Donn are graduates of Sequoia high school: Donn continued his studies at San Mateo college, then went into the air force receiving his second lieutenant's bars a week before the wedding.

Three attendants preceded Pat down the aisle of the church. Her sister, Mrs. Joseph Russo of Mountain View, served as matron of honor followed by Mrs. David Matney, a former Menloite, secondary attendant, and Chris Farley, the bride's cousin, junior bridesmaid.

Full length bouffant tulle over taffeta frocks were worn by all three in the party. Mrs. Russo's dress was maize colored, while Mrs. Matney wore aquamarine and Chris, coral.

The two adult attendants carried cascade bouquets and the junior bridesmaid, a nosegay of spider chrysanthemums shaded from a deep bronze to a cafe au lait center. Their headpieces were halos of the same flowers.

Pat, escorted by an old family friend from Oakland, James E. Prunty, was lovely in a simply styled off-white tulle over taffeta gown designed and made by a close friend.

The bodice featured a high, round neck and three-quarter sleeves; the skirt was formed from yards and yards of flowing tulle over a daintily embroidered "under-dress" of imported taffeta.

ILLUSION VEIL

A tiny pearl crown clasped the fingertip illusion veil, while completing the ensemble was a handkerchief which had long been in the bridegroom's family and the bridal bouquet, a cascade of stephanotis and butterfly orchids.

William Walthall, who is currently stationed at Fort Ord, served as Donn's best man, and Joseph Russo and David Matney escorted the guests to their seats.

Special guest at the wedding was Donn's aunt, Mrs. Nellie Austin of Phoenix, Arizona, who wore an aqua sheer wool frock with black accessories for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, friends and family were greeted by the bridal party on the patio of Mrs. Green's Redwood City home. As evening came on, the newlyweds fled through a shower of rice to their car, which was to take them on a southerly route to Las Vegas.

Orrocks Plan New Home On Peninsula

Honeymooning somewhere in California are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Orrock, whose exchange of wedding vows took place last Sat-

Sandra Lee Overstreet became Mrs. Orrock at a double-ring candlelight ceremony read by Reverend Donald F. Lehmann.

She was given in marriage by her father, Harry J. Overstreet of East Palo Alto.

Her wedding gown was oyster white faille, trimmed with ice blue velvet. She wore a half-wreath of ice blue velvet flowers in her hair.

Her sole attendant was her Menlo-Atherton high school chum Kay Harper who chose ice blue faille and wore pink velvet flowered half-wreath. Both gowns were ballerina length with fitted bodice and full skirt. The head pieces were created by Mrs. Mildred Mundy, a friend of the bride's mother.

Mrs. Overstreet selected a changeable taffeta gown in sandalwood tones and wore brown accessories for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Vaneta Orrock of Menlo Park, mother of the groom, chose navy for her dress.

Edith Bradford was soloist, accompanied by Ward Netsell at the organ. The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and candleabra.

A wedding reception for 75 guests was held at the Pythian Castle hall. The ballroom was centered with a large white wedding bell with white streamers extending to the corners. The bridal table was banked with white chrysanthemums and was centered with a three-tier wedding cake. Over the fireplace mantle was an arrangement of lilies-of-the-valley.

The new Mrs. Orrock wore a beige knit suit with reptile accessories as she left with her husband for an undisclosed wedding destination. The young couple plan to make their home on the peninsula upon their return. The groom is in business in Redwood City.

MRS. RICHARD FORD will hostess AAUW evening bridge section II at 8 p. m. Wednesday in her 1554 Walnut drive home, Palo Alto.

Dental Auxiliary Lays Plans for November Bazaar

Plans for a bazaar some time next month were talked over recently, when a steering committee for the Sequoia hospital auxiliary met at the Atherton home of their president, Mrs. Thomas Gurnee.

The pre-Christmas sale will feature gift items similar to those sold at the auxiliary's shop in Sequoia hospital foyer—among the many offerings will be handmade dolls and stuffed animals created by the auxiliary's workshop members.

Proceeds will be used toward buying toys, record players, records and gowns for the pediatrics ward.

Mrs. Gurnee has named Mrs. Orrie Miller of San Carlos general chairman of the bazaar. Also present at the meeting were Mrs. Robert O'Keefe, Mrs. Mary Ryan, Mrs. H. D. Chope and Mrs. Alyn Beals.

Group Named to Explore CCPT Council Question

A 17-member committee to explore the question of establishing PTA councils in San Mateo county was appointed Monday at the executive board meeting of the Seventeenth district, California congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Roy N. Cloud Jr. of Redwood City, former vice president of the district, will head the committee, whose members include Mrs. William Raithel of Menlo Park, Belle Haven PTA president; Mrs. R. W. Bryant of Menlo Park; Mrs. Edward L. Gray of East Palo Alto, Kavanaugh president and Mrs. B. D. Ralston of Woodside, a past district president.

Also at the meeting Mrs. Harry Caplan of Menlo Park, legislation chairman, distributed literature favoring Proposition 2, the State school building bond issue, and Proposition 3, the alcoholic beverage control amendment.

"Flying Carpet" Theme for AAUW Meeting Tuesday

It took Christopher Columbus from August 3 to October 12, 1492, to sail across the Atlantic to the Bahamas. It took Dr. Alfred R. Sumner 53 days to fly from port to port around the world.

And herein lies the tale to be told to AAUW members, husbands and guests at the Menlo-Atherton branch's first fall general meeting at 8 p. m. next Tuesday (Columbus Day). The session, featuring Dr. Sumner's comments on "Around the world in 60 days," will be held in the music room of Hillview school.

Dr. Sumner escorted a group of students and teachers on the summer global trip, having conceived the idea of a "flying classroom" while he taught at Stanford and Palo Alto Adult education classes.

Mrs. J. G. Doll, international relations chairman, and Mrs. D. R. Shannon, education, are serving as co-chairmen of the meeting, while Mrs. Frank Hevern, hospitality, is being assisted by Mrs. Mary Irwin, Mrs. Robert Durfee, Mrs. Herman Mokler and Mrs. G. J. Lovelace.

The AAUW branch also issues a reminder to anyone interested in participating in the upcoming bridge tournament to make reservations with Mrs. George F. Madgeburger, EM 3-0313, before October 15.

AAUW executive board met Tuesday with Mrs. Locke Parish.

On Wednesday there are three affairs.

Mrs. LaPierre heads the PTA hospitality committee and Mrs. John Chaffet chairs the room mothers committee, both of which are arranging these events.

Junior League Unit Meets on Wednesday

Next Wednesday marks the monthly meeting of the Palo Alto unit of the San Francisco Junior League, Inc. The session will be held at 10 p.m. at the Lindenwood home of Mrs. W. Machall Jason, 29 Irving drive.

When the business affairs are concluded, Garland Farmer Jr., director of the World Affairs council of Northern California, will discuss Foreign Policy—How to Known One When You See It."

Following Mr. Farmer's talk, luncheon will be served; those wishing to make reservations should call Mrs. Donald Ross, DA 5-2128.

Each member is to bring a geranium slip to the 12:30 dessert luncheon—these will be exchanged following the day's topic, "Geraniums."

Second 'Acorn Cottage' in Atherton

By MAGGIE MOORE

It was an unexpected pleasure—to meet the gracious and petite Mrs. Arthur W. Brouillet the other day at 71 Ralston avenue in Atherton. And here is why:

Mrs. Brouillet greeted us at the white colonial doorway to—the second "Acorn Cottage." If you remember, we recently described the original Acorn Cottage on Valparaiso avenue and then told you about the second home built by Mr. and Mrs. F. L. W. MacDonald —"Puntombrea."

When Mrs. Brouillet first came to her Atherton home her husband gave her the choice of naming it. Because in the garden there is a continuous succession of blooming trees and shrubs throughout the year, she named it "Boisfleury," which means "flowering trees" in French.

BOISFLEURY

"Boisfleury," built on a larger scale and with a new wing added to it, was a direct copy of Acorn Cottage which the late Arthur Brouillet of San Francisco and Atherton fell in love with years ago.

The same Pennsylvania Dutch-colonial style, this time painted white with a soft blue color in the shutter trim, was chosen.

The same floor plan, built around a center stairwell, is in evidence—but with a difference. A talented architect added a wing off to the side which holds the master bedroom suite, a powder room and a sunken living room. The living room in turn opens from the glass wall at one end to a covered patio.

Every couple who makes a home inevitably stamps it with their individualities, after all. Arthur Brouillet, keeping the essence of what he loved in the original Acorn Cottage, built a home that couldn't really be called a cottage. Mrs. Brouillet brought to it treasured keepsakes.

SOME CHANGES

The original living room of the Acorn Cottage floor plan became a large dining room and the original kitchen became a quaintly beautiful little breakfast room.

Called by Mrs. Brouillet the "peasant corner," the breakfast room is furnished with genuine early Americana. The "pumpkin pie" table (so-called because of its color) shows patching where worm holes had been.

A collection of Brittany Quimper chinaware is featured in an old apothecary cupboard and the chairs, as do all the furnishings, have the lovely patina of age that can't be duplicated in our day. The random width oak flooring is pegged rather than nailed.

An old black iron stove has been set into a bricked-up corner with a copper hood over it. Set into the brickwork are several French tiles. Incidentally, all through Boisfleury are unexpected touches like these.

A MODERN TOUCH

Where the original dining room was situated is now a well-equipped, thoroughly modern kitchen, complete with dishwasher and white steel cabinets. However, Mrs. Bouillet has added color with copper and brass cooking utensils and a collection of wooden spoons —all of which she uses. They aren't just to look at.

In the beginning, the Brouillet home had remained exactly like its original, but the new wing and the change in use of the rooms were necessary if the home was to permit entertaining on a larger scale.

The changes successfully carried out the intention without sacrificing the charm. There is a wonderful provision for house guests, too, not only in the three upstairs bedrooms, but also in the guest cottage to the side—built in the same style as the main house.

COLLECTOR'S ITEMS

When the new wing was added, the entrance, rather than remaining directly in the center of the home, was moved to enter the new wing at the side and a long covered porch added. In the window recess, created when the front entrance was moved, Mrs. Brouillet has placed shelves with a collection of colored glass.

She has almost a full set of the "Bleeding Heart" pattern in antique pressed glass, as well.

In a quaint little antique desk in the living room, she keeps her collection of miniature brass candlesticks. In olden days, when the candlestick maker poured the molten brass into the molds to make the regular-sized ones, whatever was left over went to make the miniatures for children.

Mrs. Brouillet has a pair of the traditional kind with the handle—like "Jack-be-nimble, Jack-be-quick" is always pictured jumping over—and one made like a small frying pan.

BEAUTIFUL-AUTHENTIC

Throughout the home are lovely antique furnishings and accessories; Arthur Brouillet showed his love for the beautiful things of his French ancestry. Even the living room fireplace is French with the graceful lines now familiar to us all since the recent vogue for "French provincial." Excepting that here it is authentic.

Both the living and dining rooms look out into the covered patio and a small brick courtyard — Mr. Brouillet laid the bricks himself.

Here, and along the curving driveway through the oak studded garden, Mrs. Brouillet has scattered grain for the quail who gather in small coveys to enjoy it.

She carries this interest farther (we noticed a book about quail in the living room.)

PENTHOUSE, TOO

Extending beyond the patio is a small two-story "wing" which houses dressing rooms for the proposed swimming pool, a bar and a wine storage room. Up above is a penthouse type of room which could be used as a den-studio.

Although larger than the original Acorn Cottage, we cannot help repeating that Boisfleury has the same charm which made us fall in love with the first home.

Just how, is hard to explain. It is a feeling—helped along by such things as the funny little old French watering can in the patio. There is an appreciation here for living with beautiful things which have been collected lovingly through the years.

Like the two other homes we mentioned in this three-part story, Acorn Cottage and Puntombrea, Boisfleury has that indefinable warmth which envelopes you, and you know immediately that here is a home, beloved and sharing of its hospitality.

HONOR GUEST

GUEST OF HONOR at next Tuesday's fashion show sponsored by the county council of Republican women will be Mrs. Thomas H. Kuchel (above), wife of the US senator from California. Whitebread of Atherton, recording secretary for the council, and Mrs. Charles Weeks, Atherton, membership chairman, are both selling tickets to the affair. Another Athertonian, Mrs. Richard J. Dolwig, wife of Assemblyman Dolwig, will be among those honored.

Alpha O Alumnae Arrange Annual Bridge-Bazaar

Early Christmas shoppers will have a "hey dey" October 18 when the San Jose-Peninsula alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi present their annual fall benefit, a dessert bridge and bazaar.

Among gift items to be placed on sale are Christmas candles, aprons, novel bookmarkers, Yuletide walnut wreaths, velvet pincushions and mistletoe rings.

Bridge and shopping will be combined at 12:30 p .m. at the Stanford women's clubhouse on campus. Ticket reservations — deadline, next Wednesday — may be made by calling or writing Mrs. R. A. Hemingson, 1235 Oak Grove avenue, Burlingame; Diamond 2-0267.

Local members assisting as hostesses are Mrs. Oleg Gattenberger of Atherton, Mrs. Robert Markley and Mrs. Arthur Bolton of Menlo Park.

AFTERNOON bridge group III, AAUW, will gather at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Woodside home of Mrs. Herman Smith, 145 Crest road.

BOOK and Drama section of AAUW met Monday afternoon to hear a review by Mrs. Bertha Wells.

In Woodside:

Former Delphians Rename Their Group The "Theta Forum"

At last week's organizational meeting, members of the former Theta chapter, Delphian society, voted to keep the "Theta" title and add to it "Forum," so that the new organization, carrying on the same type of informative program, will be known as "Theta Forum."

The group last year completed their three-year course with the Delphian society, but decided to continue with an estimated 30 or 40 members. Next meeting, which will include election of officers, has been set for November 3 at Mrs. Lowell Wolfe's home, 601 Hobart street.

The program will include a resume of current events by Mrs. Leland Burrill; "Attitudes of Europeans toward American tourists" by Mrs. Rosin and Mrs. Smith and a character sketch of Winston Churchill by Mrs. Raymond Marovitch.

'Teenage Parties' on Parents Forum Agenda

"Teenage parties" will be discussed by a panel next Tuesday morning when the Parents' Forum of the Menlo Park Presbyterian church holds its regular meeting.

The speakers, Mrs. J. C. Davenport, Mrs. Henry Keyes, Mrs. Frank Fullenwider and Mrs. Guy Plaisted, all mothers of 'teenagers, will explain their own experiences in giving parties, problems involved and how they were solved, kinds of parties favored, chaperoning and how to better socialize a group.

Mrs. Richard Stevens, forum president, invited all parents of junior and junior high church school members, as well as interested friends, to attend the session which will be preceded by coffee at 9:45 a. m. A nursery is provided by small children.

League Puppet Committee Will Meet for Tea Today

The Palo Alto unit Junior League puppet committee will meet for tea this afternoon with Mrs. T. E. Rochford, 1740 Bay Laurel drive. The session, which convenes at 3 p.m., will include discussion of the committee's future plans.

Following the business meeting, members will inspect the new puppet workshop at 1245 Rosefield way. All League members who have worked on the committee, as well as those who are interested in the current projects, are urged to attend the tea.

Marjorie E. King To Exhibit Work At Allied Arts

Menlo Park artist Marjorie Eleanor King will have a special exhibit of her paintings on display Monday through October 18 at the Allied Arts guild.

Mrs. King is the wife of Captain Robert King, a submarine commander, and the mother of Robert Lee King, who was graduated from Stanford university this June and who is currently pursuing post grad studies at John's Hopkins university.

The local artist has already exhibited her paintings at the Main and South Palo Alto libraries in a one-man show and participated in the recent annual art festival at Rickey's.

The Guild exhibit will include portraits, still life and landscapes in the media of pastels, oils and watercolors. The Allied Arts guild is operated by the Woodside-Atherton Junior auxiliary for the benefit of the Stanford Convalescent home.

Sigma Kappa Alumnae Schedule Two Meetings

The Peninsula alumnae chapter of Sigma Kappa sorority will hold two meetings this month.

The afternoon section will meet with Dorothy Tilden, 867 Lincoln way, Palo Alto, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, with Edith Blinn assisting the hostess. Mrs. Max M. Van Patten of Palo Alto, a representative from the League of Women Voters, will discuss pros and cons of November ballot measures.

The evening section will gather next Monday at 7:45 p.m. with Mrs. Ivan Kusch, 231 Monroe drive, Palo Alto. New Sigmas in the area are asked to call Mrs. Charles R. Shoemaker, DA 5-1825.

Tuesday Meeting Date For Alpha Chi Omegas

"Kick-off" meeting date for Alpha Chi Omega alumnae in this area is Tuesday, October 12, at 12:30 p.m. The first fall session will take place at Mrs. John Edwards' home, 103 Marvin avenue. The hostesses will be assisted by Mrs. Walter Balch.

All new Alpha Chi Omegas reading this are invited to join the group, and may call DA 5-1681 for reservations and more information.

IF YOU NEED NEW WINDOW SHADES we will cut them to fit your old rollers while you wait.

What's Doing Among Menlo Park Teen-Agers

Jo Booth DA 3-1909

Football—both professional and collegiate—is in style now!

On the collegiate side, we have a host of names of people seen at the Stanford-Illinois game, cheering like mad! They included Joan Stickney, Sharon Edwards, Beth Rosener, Judy Chapin, Susan Soderberg, Kathy Long, Bunny Clark, Nancy Achilles, Ann Duniway, Morgan Meyers, Joanne Johnson, Mignon Carroll, Linda Adams, Laddie Jane Gock, Chuck Weesner, Teddie Grindle, Diane Sullivan, Jo Broeren, Donna Nawport.

Interesting sidelights—Barbara du Fresne, sitting at the 50 yard line, was surprised to find herself two seats in front of Gary Crosby! And Tony Doyle, taking advantage of a simple way to make money, sold a program to the other Crosby, Bing! Also there selling everything from soup to nuts (well, not really) were Wells Richter, Nat Floyd, Bob Newhouse and Berge Nelson.

We mentioned professional football up there, too, referring to the Rams-49er game down south. And one of the majorettes is well known to M-A-ites—Carmelita Arroyo!

She, in addition to about 32 other kids, plus parents, left at 7 Saturday morning in a chartered bus draped with 49er signs. They arrived at 7 at the Hotel Stillwell and after dinner went immediately to bed. The game next day was according to Carmelita, "simply fabulous." Perhaps you saw her on TV, as one camera was focused on her during her routine!

After the game the group went to dinner, a TV show called "Bandstand Review" with Frankie Carle where they pointed out the girls Grauman's Chinese Theater, then back to the hotel.

To complete a really marvelous weekend, Tony Marbito, the owner of the 49ers, came to the baton class and said it was the best baton twirling for a professional football game that he had ever seen!

Another Menlo majorette, who like Carmelita, twirls at the home games at Kezar stadium, has also traveled!

Margaret Goodlive, who marches with the Southern Pacific band has covered the state of California this summer, appearing at rodeos concerts and parades. She has performed in such towns as Vallejo Martinez, Eureka, Santa Cruz Pleasanton, Ferndale and Watsonville. Recently she twirled at the Santa Clara county fair.

During the summer she and Carmelita spent three weeks in a twirling camp, where they taught baton and practiced new routines.

Ever been told that someone is having a surprise party for someone else, and you're invited—then find that's true, but it's also for yourself? Possibly this hasn't been the experience of most, but we know of two people who fill that bill—Gayle Montana and Duane Starnes!

Gayle actually came over early to help with decorations, and was pretty shocked at the outcome! In addition to the dancing and games featured, a double cake with both names was presented and quickly eaten.

Enjoying the fun were Phyllis Watson, Diane Neil, Pat Reynolds, Sally Seaver (the hostess), Carolyn Gerbo, Bill Augenstein, Bob Davidson, Stew Morton and John Adams.

The finishing touches were put to a few campaigns last week, such as perfecting playlets, posters, and handout dealies (what else can you call 'em?). Some of the hard workers included . . .

And Merry Davenport, Sue Samuels, Bittle Rhoades and Cris Cochran at Jacque Cook's house.

Studying at the University of Colorado now are Ozzie Piper, Judy Phillips, Fred Ketcham, Lisa Weinstock, Sue Stolp and Don Liston . . . Bim Beckman is at Princeton and John Raventos is at Oregon.

Please, on bended knee, we beg of you to call us about parties — church gatherings — anything!

At their meeting Tuesday night members of the Menlo Park parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West laid plans for a card party to be held October 29 at 8 p. m. in the "yellow room" of the civic center.

The guest speaker, introduced by Mrs. Dilliam Dwyer, newly-appointed chairman of veterans' welfare, was Ernest J. Barbieri, director of volunteer activities at Veterans hospital.

Local Stanford Alumni Invited to Play Bridge

Bridge isn't falling down . . . at least not as far as members of the Palo Alto area Stanford club are concerned.

Next Friday, October 15, local Stanford alumni have been invited to bring their own cards to a gala bridge session slated for 8 p.m. in Bowman Alumni house on campus. The minimal entry fee (to augment the scholarship fund) includes prizes and refreshments.

Reservations may be made by calling DA 2-8871 either in the morning or in the evening.

Westminster Association

Members of Philathea circle, Westminster association of the Menlo Park Presbyterian church, will gather at 7:30 p. m. Monday for Bible study in the church Fireside room.

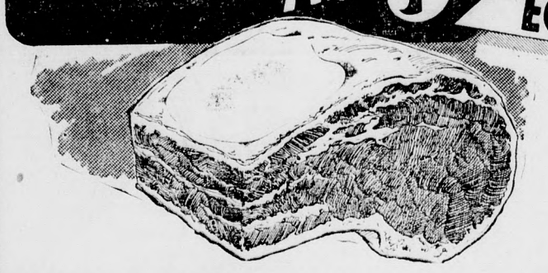

The regular meeting — topic: "Korea" — will follow. Miss Mary Brown is to lead the devotional period.

EDUCATION MEETING

Members of AAUW education committee will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday at the home of the chairman, Mrs. D. R. Shannon, 3512 Spring street, Redwood City. Those attending are asked to call the hostess at EM 8-2743.

County Bureau Expresses Need For Volunteers

The Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo county, connecting link between agencies needing volunteer workers and the volunteers willing to serve, announces that an urgent need now exists for clerical help, as well as for untrained but willing aides for the United Crusade drive.

Mrs. Mary Kate Spencer of 1205 Rosefield way is one of those who came to Volunteer Bureau offices, 1229 Burlingame avenue, Burlingame, in search of volunteer work.

Mrs. Spencer, the mother of two small children, has a social work background and was recommended by the bureau to the Speech and Hearing clinic at Stanford university. There she has served 81 hours so far.

She assists the staff and also does some clerical work. Her presence lightens the work load for the regular staff, and enables the clinic to expand its program.

Volunteers do not take over a job which would otherwise be filled by a paid employee; they merely fit in in order to ease the burden of the regular employee or, in such cases as teaching crafts to the aged, create a job which would otherwise not be done at all.

Hadassah Concert To Feature Singing By Michael Loring

Principal attraction at the "Festival of Jewish Music" to be presented November 13 will be the noted tenor, Michael Loring. The concert is slated for 8:30 p.m. at Temple Beth Jacob under the auspices of the Sequoia chapter Hadassah.

Also on the playbill will be Israeli dances executed by a group of University of California exchange students from Israel. Following the concert, kosher style refreshments will be served.

Proceeds from the event are aimed at augmenting Youth Aliyah, the youth immigration movement through which Hadassah has helped to bring 65,000 Jewish children — many orphaned — into Israel.

Localites assisting Chairman Mrs. Norman Rogers of Palo Alto on the concert are Mrs. Stanley Felix of Atherton and Mrs. Eli Goldfarb of Stanford Village. Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. Rogers at DA 5-6926.

Dod, Dietra Ennis To Be Christened Here on Sunday

Deitra Lynn Ennis and James Dod Ennis, twin children of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ennis, will be christened by the Rev. Gardner Smith on Sunday at Holy Trinity Episcopal church.

Following the ceremony, godparents of the two month old twins will be entertained at buffet supper at the Ennis' home. Deitra's godparents will be Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Washburn of San Carlos and Mrs. Robert Peterson of Palo Alto; Dod's godparents are to be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emory of LaFavette and Ronald Dingwell of San Francisco.

Both children will wear family christening outfits. Deitra's handmade dress was worn by her elder sister, Sheryl Star* when she was christened in Thailand; in addition, the twin girl will wear an heirloom locket used by her maternal grandmother, mother and sister at their christenings.

Dod will be dressed in a white suit trimmed to match Deitra's dress. His heirloom piece will be an antique gold pin worn by the male children in his mother's family at their christenings.

The twins were born July 22.
